

Dear fellow George Mason High School parents,

George Mason's All Night Graduation Celebration (ANGC) is now in its 30th year of keeping our graduates safe by providing an alternative to typical "grad night" parties that often include alcohol, drugs, driving between multiple locations, and other unsafe and risky behaviors. Instead, the GMHS Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA) hosts a six-hour party at Mason for our graduates, offering something for everyone throughout the evening: casino games, food and refreshments, a comedian, temporary tattoos, entertainment, and prizes.

While June may feel a long way off, it takes a lot of work to make ANGC a success. The event is fully funded by parent and community donations, as well as business sponsorships, and it requires hours of work from volunteers. So even if you don't have a senior this year, we still need your help and show of support: Graduating seniors are your neighbors, your friends' kids, your babysitters, the athletes you see on our playing fields, the musicians and performers on our stage, and the role models younger children look up to.

Since the GMHS PTSA began hosting the All Night Grad Celebration in 1988, the George Mason High School community has not had an alcohol- or drug-related injury or death on graduation night. There is no greater goal than that; please help us continue our tradition of keeping all of our kids safe through your donation and/or by joining our committee of volunteers.

Thank you for your support,
